TRADE MARKS ACT 1994
CONSOLIDATED PROCEEDINGS

IN THE MATTER OF TRADE MARK APPLICATION NOS. 3400910 & 3398969
BY LONDON TERMINALS LIMITED TO REGISTER

London Terminals Limited
London Terminals LTD

AND

AS TRADE MARKS
IN CLASSES 18 & 25
AND OPPOSITION THERETO (UNDER NO. 417496 & 417497)
BY LONDN TERMINALS LTD

Background & pleadings

1. London Terminals Limited (“the applicant”) applied to register the following trade marks in classes 18 and 25. The full list of goods is contained in Annex 1.

TM No. 3400910 London Terminals Limited London Terminals LTD (series of two) Classes 18 & 25 Filing date: 21 May 2019 Publication date: 31 May 2019	TM No. 3398969  Classes 18 & 25 Filing date: 13 May 2019 Publication date: 31 May 2019

2. On 22 August 2019, Londn Terminals Ltd (“the opponent”) opposed both applications under section 5(2)(b) of the Trade Marks Act 1994 (“the Act”). The opponent opposed all goods in class 25 of the applications and some goods in class 18. The relevant goods will be referred to later in this decision. The opponent relies upon all its goods registered for the following trade marks. Those goods are set out in Annex 2:

UK TM No.3358125 London Terminals Class 25 Filing date: 3 December 2018 Registration date: 8 March 2019	UK TM No.3331987  Classes 18 & 25 Filing date: 15 August 2018 Registration date: 9 November 2018

3. The opponent’s trade marks are earlier marks, in accordance with section 6 of the Act, but as neither mark had been registered for five years or more before the filing dates of the applicant's marks, they not subject to the proof of use requirements, as per section 6A of the Act.

4. The applicant filed a counterstatement for each of the applications and accepted that the parties have goods in the same classes, but denied the marks were similar.

5. The proceedings were consolidated by the Tribunal on 8 October 2019.

6. Neither party is represented. Both parties filed evidence but neither requested a hearing. I make this decision based on all of the papers filed.

Evidence

7. Both parties provided evidence. I have reviewed the evidence but do not intend to summarise it here. There is much emphasis in both sets of evidence on dates of company name registration, domain name purchases and use of social media as a sales medium. There was some evidence provided of use the trade marks on several specific clothing items in the UK and abroad. However, it is settled law that in assessing whether there is a likelihood of confusion I must make my comparison on the basis of notional and fair use over the whole range of goods covered by the parties' respective specifications and on the similarity of the marks. Company name registration or domain name purchases are not relevant to this notional comparison.

Approach

8. Although the earlier trade mark UK TM No.3358125 is a word mark and may appear in the first instance to offer the strongest case, it is UK TM No.3331987 which has the broadest specification, covering goods in classes 18 and 25. For the assessment I must make under section 5(2)(b) of the Act, I will begin by considering the position in respect of UK TM No.3331987 and will return to the other earlier mark if it becomes necessary to do so.

Decision

9. Section 5(2)(b) of the Act is as follows:

“5(2) A trade mark shall not be registered if because-

(b) it is similar to an earlier trade mark and is to be registered for goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the earlier trade mark is protected, there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public, which includes the likelihood of association with the earlier trade mark.

10. The following principles are gleaned from the decisions of the EU courts in Sabel BV v Puma AG, Case C-251/95, Canon Kabushiki Kaisha v Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc, Case C-39/97, Lloyd Schuhfabrik Meyer & Co GmbH v Klijsen Handel B.V. Case C-342/97, Marca Mode CV v Adidas AG & Adidas Benelux BV, Case C-425/98, Matratzen Concord GmbH v OHIM, Case C-3/03, Medion AG v. Thomson Multimedia Sales Germany & Austria GmbH, Case C-120/04, Shaker di L. Laudato & C. Sas v OHIM, Case C-334/05P and Bimbo SA v OHIM, Case C-591/12P.

The principles

(a) The likelihood of confusion must be appreciated globally, taking account of all relevant factors;

(b) the matter must be judged through the eyes of the average consumer of the goods or services in question, who is deemed to be reasonably well informed and reasonably circumspect and observant, but who rarely has the chance to make direct comparisons between marks and must instead rely upon the imperfect picture of them he has kept in his mind, and whose attention varies according to the category of goods or services in question;

(c) the average consumer normally perceives a mark as a whole and does not proceed to analyse its various details;

(d) the visual, aural and conceptual similarities of the marks must normally be assessed by reference to the overall impressions created by the marks bearing in mind their distinctive and dominant components, but it is only when all other components of a complex mark are negligible that it is permissible to make the comparison solely on the basis of the dominant elements;

(e) nevertheless, the overall impression conveyed to the public by a composite trade mark may be dominated by one or more of its components;

(f) however, it is also possible that in a particular case an element corresponding to an earlier trade mark may retain an independent distinctive role in a composite mark, without necessarily constituting a dominant element of that mark;

(g) a lesser degree of similarity between the goods or services may be offset by a great degree of similarity between the marks, and vice versa;

(h) there is a greater likelihood of confusion where the earlier mark has a highly distinctive character, either per se or because of the use that has been made of it;

(i) mere association, in the strict sense that the later mark brings the earlier mark to mind, is not sufficient;

(j) the reputation of a mark does not give grounds for presuming a likelihood of confusion simply because of a likelihood of association in the strict sense;

(k) if the association between the marks creates a risk that the public will wrongly believe that the respective goods or services come from the same or economically-linked undertakings, there is a likelihood of confusion.

Comparison of goods

11. In the judgment of the Court of Justice of the European Union (“CJEU”) in Canon, Case C-39/97, the court stated at paragraph 23 of its judgment that:

“In assessing the similarity of the goods or services concerned, as the French and United Kingdom Governments and the Commission have pointed out, all the relevant factors relating to those goods or services themselves should be taken into account. Those factors include, inter alia, their nature, their intended purpose and their method of use and whether they are in competition with each other or are complementary”.

12. The relevant factors identified by Jacob J. (as he then was) in the Treat case, [1996] R.P.C. 281, for assessing similarity were:

- (a) The respective uses of the respective goods or services;
- (b) The respective users of the respective goods or services;
- (c) The physical nature of the goods or acts of service;
- (d) The respective trade channels through which the goods or services reach the market;
- (e) In the case of self-serve consumer items, where in practice they are respectively found or likely to be, found in supermarkets and in particular whether they are, or are likely to be, found on the same or different shelves;
- (f) The extent to which the respective goods or services are competitive. This inquiry may take into account how those in trade classify goods, for instance whether market research companies, who of course act for industry, put the goods or services in the same or different sectors.

13. The following case law is also applicable to these proceedings.

14. In Gérard Meric v Office for Harmonisation in the Internal Market, Case T-133/05, the General Court (“GC”) stated that:

“29. In addition, the goods can be considered as identical when the goods designated by the earlier mark are included in a more general category, designated by trade mark application (Case T-388/00 Institut für Lernsysteme v OHIM- Educational Services (ELS) [2002] ECR II-4301, paragraph 53) or where the goods designated by the trade mark application are included in a more general category designated by the earlier mark”.

15. In Kurt Hesse v OHIM, Case C-50/15 P, the CJEU stated that complementarity is an autonomous criterion capable of being the sole basis for the existence of similarity between goods. In Boston Scientific Ltd v Office for Harmonization in the Internal Market (Trade Marks and Designs) (OHIM), Case T-325/06, the General Court stated that “complementary” means:

“...there is a close connection between them, in the sense that one is indispensable or important for the use of the other in such a way that customers may think that the responsibility for those goods lies with the same undertaking”.

16. In Sanco SA v OHIM, Case T-249/11, the General Court indicated that goods and services may be regarded as ‘complementary’ and therefore similar to a degree in circumstances where the nature and purpose of the respective goods and services are very different, i.e. chicken against transport services for chickens. The purpose of examining whether there is a complementary relationship between goods/services is to assess whether the relevant public are liable to believe that responsibility for the goods/services lies with the same undertaking or with economically connected undertakings. As Mr Daniel Alexander Q.C. noted as the Appointed Person in Sandra Amelia Mary Elliot v LRC Holdings Limited BL-0-255-13:

“It may well be the case that wine glasses are almost always used with wine – and are, on any normal view, complementary in that sense - but it does not follow that wine and glassware are similar goods for trade mark purposes.”

Whilst on the other hand:

“.....it is neither necessary nor sufficient for a finding of similarity that the goods in question must be used together or that they are sold together.

17. As previously stated, my approach is to compare the goods in the earlier mark no. 3331987 to the applicant’s goods identified in the Notice of Opposition. The opponent is opposing all goods in the applicant’s class 25 specifications and some goods in class 18. The applicant's class 25 specifications are slightly different for each of the applied for marks. However all the goods contained in UK TM no. 3400910 are also present in UK TM no. 3398969. Given this, I will take both contested specifications together for the purpose of comparing the goods.

18. I find that the following goods are either literally identical, i.e. the same words are used, or the goods are the same albeit that they are expressed slightly differently in the opponent's and applicant's class 18 specifications:

All purpose sport bags; All-purpose athletic bags; All-purpose carrying bags; All-purpose sports bags; Artificial fur bags; Athletic bags; Athletics bags; Attaché bags; Attache cases; Attaché cases; Baby backpacks; Back packs; Backpacks; Backpacks for carrying babies; Backpacks [rucksacks]; Baggage; Bags; Bags for climbers; Bags for school; Bags for sports; Barrel bags; Beach bags; Beachbags; Beauty cases; Beauty cases [not fitted]; Belts (Leather shoulder -); Book bags; Brief cases; Briefcases; Briefcases and attache cases; Bum bags; Bumbags; Card holders made of leather; Card wallets; Card wallets [leatherware]; Casual bags; Clutch bags; Clutch handbags; Clutch purses; Clutch purses [handbags]; Clutches [purses]; Coin purses; Cosmetic bags; Cosmetic bags sold empty; Cosmetic cases sold empty; Cosmetic purses; Credit card cases; Credit card cases [wallets]; Credit card holders; Crossbody bags; Cross-body bags; Daypacks; Driving license cases; Duffel bags; Duffel bags for travel; Duffle bags; Evening bags; Evening handbags; Evening purses; Fanny packs; Fashion handbags; Folding briefcases; Garment bags; Garment bags for travel; Garment bags for travel made of leather; Garment carriers; Gentlemen's handbags; Gent's handbags; Gym bags; Hand bags; Handbags; Handbags for ladies; Handbags for men; Handbags made of imitations leather; Handbags made of leather; Handbags, not made of precious metal; Handbags, not of precious metal; Handbags, purses and wallets; Key cases; Key cases [leather goods]; Key cases made of leather; Key cases of leather; Key pouches; Key wallets; Keycases; Key-cases; Key-cases of leather; Labels for luggage; Ladies handbags; Ladies' handbags; Leather bags; Leather bags and wallets; Leather cases for keys; Leather coin purses; Leather credit card cases; Leather credit card holder; Leather credit card wallets; Leather for shoes; Leather handbags; Leather luggage straps; Leather shoulder belts; Leather shoulder straps; Leather straps; Luggage; Luggage

19. The opponent has the terms bags, luggage and briefcases and attaché cases at large in its specification which are broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

Airline travel bags; Animal carriers [bags]; Art portfolios [cases]; Articles of luggage; Attache cases made of imitation leather; Attache cases made of leather; Bags [envelopes, pouches] for packaging of leather; Bags [envelopes, pouches] of leather for packaging; Bags [envelopes, pouches] of leather, for packaging; Bags for campers; Bags for carrying animals; Bags for carrying pets; Bags for clothes; Bags for sports clothing; Bags for travel; Bags for umbrellas; Bags (Game -) [hunting accessories]; Bags (Garment -) for travel; Bags made of imitation leather; Bags made of leather; Bags (Net -) for shopping; Bags (Nose -) [feed bags]; Belt bags; Belt bags and hip bags; Belt pouches; Boot bags; Boston bags; Boxes of leather (Hat -); Briefbags; Briefcase-type portfolios; Bucket bags; Business cases; Briefcases for documents; Briefcases [leather goods]; Briefcases [leatherware]; Briefcases made of leather; Business cases; Cabin bags; Camping bags; Canvas bags; Canvas shopping bags; Carriers for suits, for shirts and for dresses; Carriers for suits, shirts and dresses; Carry-all bags; Carryalls; Carrying bags; Carrying cases; Carrying cases for documents; Carry-on bags; Carry-on suitcases; Cases of imitation leather; Cases of leather or leatherboard; Cases, of leather or leatherboard; Changing bags; Charm bags (omamori-ire); Charm bags [omamori-ire]; Children's shoulder bags; Cloth bags; Courier bags; Diaper bags; Diplomatic bags; Document cases; Document cases of leather; Document holders [carrying cases]; Drawstring bags; Drawstring pouches; Empty instrument cases for use by doctors; Feed bags; Feed bags for animals; Felt pouches; Flexible bags for garments; Flight bags; Folio cases; Game bags; Game bags [hunting accessories]; General purpose sport trolley bags; Gladstone bags; Grocery tote bags; Hat boxes for travel; Hat boxes of leather; Imitation leather hat boxes; Haversacks; Hiking bags; Hiking rucksacks; Hip bags; Hipsacks; Holdalls; Hold-alls; Holdalls for sports clothing; Hunters' game bags; Hunting bags; Imitation leather bags; Japanese utility pouches (shingen-bukuro); Kit bags; Knap sacks; Knapsacks; Knitted bags; Knitted bags, not of precious metals; Knitting bags; Kori wicker trunks; Leather briefcases; Leather cases; Leather pouches; Leather shopping bags; Leather suitcases; and other carriers; Luggage trunks; Makeup bags; Make-up bags; Make-up bags sold empty; Mesh shopping bags; Messenger bags; Minaudieres; Motorized suitcases; Music bags; Music cases; Nappy bags; Nappy wallets; Net bags for shopping; Nightwear cases [overnight cases]; Nose bags; Nose bags [feed bags]; Notecases; Overnight bags; Overnight cases; Overnight suitcases; Pochettes; Pocket wallets; Pocketbooks; Pocketbooks [handbags]; Portfolio cases [briefcases]; Portmanteaus; Portmanteaux; Pouches for holding make-up, keys and other personal items; Pouches, of leather, for packaging; Protective suit carriers; Reticules; Reusable shopping bags; Saddlebags; School book bags; School knapsacks; Shaving bags sold empty; Shopping bags; Shopping bags made of skin; Shopping bags with wheels attached; Small bags for men; Souvenir bags; Sporrans; Sports packs; String bags for shopping; Suit bags; Suit carriers; Suitcases, motorized, rideable; Textile shopping bags; Tie cases; Tie cases for travel; Toilet bags; Toiletry bags; Toiletry bags sold empty; Toiletry cases sold empty; Tool bags, empty; Tool bags [empty] for motor cycles; Tool bags of leather, empty; Tool bags sold empty; Tool pouches, sold empty; Tool pouches sold empty; Towelling bags; Traveling sets; Traveling sets [leatherware]; Traveling trunks; Travelling bags made of imitation leather; Travelling cases of leather; Travelling sets; Travelling sets [leatherware]; Travelling trunks; Trunks being luggage; Trunks [luggage]; Two-wheeled shopping bags; Umbrella bags.

20. The opponent has briefcases for documents in its specification which I consider to be similar to a high degree to conference folders; conference portfolios in the applicant's specification. The goods have the same purpose, ie to carry documents, they are likely to share the same users and will share the same distribution channels such as stationers' shops.

21. Following the guidance set out above in Kurt Hesse on complementarity, I consider the following goods in the applicant's specification, namely Compression cubes adapted for luggage; Fitted belts for luggage; Fitted protective covers for luggage; Grips [bags]; Grips for holding shopping bags; Handbag straps; Handles (Suitcase -); Inserts for luggage in the form of compression cubes; Lockable luggage straps; Luggage covers; Suitcase handles to be accessories and parts and fittings for bags and luggage. Such goods have a close connection to bags and luggage. They share the same users, especially for spare or replacement parts of an already purchased product. Such a connection would lead consumers to thinking the goods are produced by the same manufacturers. As such I consider them similar to a low degree to the opponent's goods.

22. The opponent has Purse frames [handbags] in its specification. I consider these goods to be similar to a high degree as Coin purse frames; Frames (Handbag); Handbag frames; Purse frames in the applicant's specification. I find the nature and purpose of the goods is the same. They are likely to share the same users, i.e. manufacturers and makers of purses and handbags and will share the same distribution channels.

23. With regard to the applicant's goods, namely Boxes made of leather; Boxes of leather; Boxes of leather or leather board; Boxes of leather or leatherboard; Boxes of vulcanised fibre; Boxes of vulcanized fiber; Boxes of vulcanized fibre; Envelopes, of leather, for packaging; Industrial packaging containers of leather; Leather or leather-board boxes; Leather boxes, I find the good to be similar to at least a low degree to bags in the opponent's specification as the goods share the same purpose, i.e. to transport or carry objects, they share the same users and could be made by the same producers and reach the market by the same distribution channels.

24. The opponent has the term keycases and Key cases of leather at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Merici principle:

Cases for holding keys; Cases for keys; Holders in the nature of cases for keys; Holders in the nature of wallets for keys; Key bags; Key cases of imitation leather; Key-cases of skins; Leather key cases.

25. The opponent has the terms purses at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Merici principle:

Chain mesh purses; Change purses; Change purses of precious metal; Coin holders; Coin purses not made of precious metal; Coin purses, not of precious metal;

Coin purses, not of precious metals; Leather purses; Purses [leatherware]; Multi-purpose purses;

26. The opponent has the terms umbrellas and parasols at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

Beach umbrellas; Beach umbrellas [beach parasols]; Combination walking sticks and umbrellas; Garden umbrellas; Golf umbrellas; Japanese oiled-paper umbrellas (janome-gasa); Japanese paper umbrellas (karakasa); Japanese paper umbrellas [karakasa]; Outdoor umbrellas; Parasols; Parasols [sun umbrellas]; Patio umbrellas; Sun umbrellas; Sun umbrellas [hand-held]; Sunshade parasols; Telescopic umbrellas

27. In addition, I consider the following goods in the applicant's specification, namely Covers for umbrellas; Covers (Umbrella -); Covers for parasols; Umbrella covers; Umbrella rings to have a close connection to umbrellas and parasols. They share the same users, especially for spare or replacement covers for an already purchased product. Such a connection would lead consumers to thinking the goods are produced by the same manufacturers. As such I consider them similar to a low degree to the opponent's goods.

28. The opponent has the goods Umbrella or parasol ribs which I consider to be highly similar to Frames for umbrellas; Frames for umbrellas or parasols; Metal parts of umbrellas; Umbrella frames in the applicant's specification. The goods share the same nature and purpose, i.e. they are part of the integral structure of an umbrella or parasol's opening and closing mechanism. The goods are also likely to share the same users, e.g. manufacturers.

29. The opponent has the terms whips at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

Cat o' nine tails; Hunting crops; Jockey sticks; Lashes [whips]; Riding crops; Riding whips; whips for animals.

30. The opponent has the terms wallets; wallets including card holders and card wallets at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle. I consider the term cases to be interchangeable with the word wallet for these goods

Ankle-mounted wallets; Banknote holders; Billfolds; Business card cases; Business card holders in the nature of card cases; Business card holders in the nature of wallets; Calling card cases; Card cases [notecases]; Card holders made of imitation leather; Cases for business cards; Commutation-ticket holders; Credit card holders made of imitation leather; Credit card holders made of leather; Credit-card holders; Leather wallets.

31. The opponent has the term baby backpack at large in its specification which I find to be similar to a high degree to the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification. These goods have a similar purpose, target the same users and reach the market through the same channels. Furthermore in a retail setting these goods will all be found together in the same area.

Baby carriers [slings or harnesses]; Baby carriers worn on the body; Baby carrying bags; Back frames for carrying children; Infant carriers worn on the body; Pouch baby carriers; Sling bags for carrying babies; Sling bags for carrying infants; Slings for babies; Slings for carrying babies; Slings for carrying infants.

32. The opponent has the term worked or semi-worked hides and other leather at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

Animal hides; Animal skins; Animal skins and hides; Animal skins, hides; Butts [parts of hides]; Cattle skins; Chamois leather, other than for cleaning purposes; Coverings (Furniture -) of leather; Curried skins; Furniture coverings of leather; Furniture (Leather trimmings for); Fur; Fur pelts; Furs sold in bulk; Fur-skins; Gold beaters' skin; Goldbeaters' skin; Hides; Kid; Leather; Leather sold in bulk; Leather, unworked or semi-worked; Leather [unworked or semi-worked]; Leather, unwrought or semi-wrought; Leatherboard; Leathercloth; Leather cloth; Leather twist; Leather for furniture; Leather trimmings for furniture; Peltry; Pelts; Rawhides; Rawhide chews for dogs; Raw skins; Semi-worked fur; Sheets of leather for use in manufacture; Skin (Goldbeaters' -); Skins and hides; Skins (Animal -); Skins (Cattle -); Skins of chamois, other than for cleaning purposes; Tanned leather; Trimmings of leather for furniture.

33. Clearly the applicant's goods namely Faux fur; Imitation hide; Imitation hides; Imitation leather; Imitation leather sold in bulk; Imitations of leather; imitation leather; imitations of leather; Leather (Imitation -); Polyurethane leather; Moleskin [imitation leather]; Moleskin [imitation of leather]; Sheets of imitation leather for use in manufacture; Synthetic leather are imitations of real leather, hides or fur. However, although imitations are made from different materials, they have the same look and feel and are used to make up the same products as the real equivalents. Furthermore, the goods not only serve the same purpose, they are in competition with the worked or semi-worked hides and other leather of the opponent's specification. These goods are also likely to have the same users. Therefore, I find these goods to be similar to a high degree.

34. The opponent has the terms walking sticks; walking cane handles; walking stick handles at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

Alpenstocks; Canes; Cane handles; Folding walking sticks; Handles for canes; Handles for walking-sticks; Handles (Walking stick-); Hiking poles; Hiking sticks; Mountaineering sticks; Rattan canes; Shooting sticks; Sticks incorporating seats; Sticks (Mountaineering -); Trekking sticks.

35. In addition, I consider the following goods in the applicant's specification, namely Specialty holsters adapted for carrying folding walking sticks is closely connected to walking sticks. Such goods are often produced by the same manufacturers and target the same users especially as accessories for an already purchased product. As such I consider them to be similar to a low degree to the opponent's goods.

36. The opponent has the term luggage tags at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

Baggage tags; Labels of leather; Luggage label holders; Luggage labels; Luggage tags [leatherware]; Metal luggage tags; Plastic luggage tags; Rubber luggage tags; Tags for luggage.

37. In addition, I consider that Golf bag tags of leather in the applicant's specification can be considered as similar to a high degree as luggage tags in the opponent's specification. Both goods share the same nature, i.e. tags for use on items. The goods share the same purpose, i.e. identifying the owners. The users and the distribution channels are likely to have some overlap and there may be an element of competition between the goods especially if the golf bag tags are intended for use in transporting golf bags whilst travelling.

38. The opponent has the term leather straps at large in its specification which is broad enough to cover the following goods in the applicant's class 18 specification and are considered identical on the Meric principle:

All-purpose leather straps; Bandoliers; Chin straps, of leather; Skates (Straps for -); Soldiers' equipment (Straps for -); Straps for skates; Straps for soldiers' equipment;

39. In addition I find that the applicant's goods namely Bands of leather; Laces (Leather -); Leather cord; Leather cords; Leather laces; Leather thongs; Leather thread; Thread (Leather -); Tefillin [phylacteries]; are similar to a medium degree to leather straps in the opponent's specification as they share the same nature of being straps or bindings, they share the same purpose of being used to hold or tie things together and the goods are also likely to share some of the same users. There may also be a degree of competition between the goods and may share the same distribution channels.

40. The opponent has the term Springs (casings, of leather, for plate-) which I find to be identical to Casings, of leather, for plate springs; Casings, of leather, for springs; albeit that the goods are expressed in a slightly differently word order in the applicant's specification.

41. The opponent has the broad terms leather straps; straps (harness) and straps of leather (saddlery) which I consider to be identical on the Meric principle to Animal harnesses; Animal leads; Animal leashes; Bits for animals; Bits for animals [harness]; Bits [harness]; Dog leads; Dog leashes; Leads for animals; Leashes for animals; Leads (Leather -); Leashes (Leather -); Leather leads; Leather leashes; Pet leads; Bridles [harness]; Bridles [harnessing]; Bridoons; Cribbing straps for horses; Draw reins; Fastenings for saddles; Foal slips; Girths of leather; Halters; Headbands for horses; Head-stalls; Horse bridles; Horse halters; Lead reins; Leathers (Stirrup-); Lunge reins; Martingales; Muzzles; Nose bands; Reins; Reins for guiding children; Saddle belts; Saddlery; Saddlery of leather; Saddlery for animals; Spur straps; Stirrup leathers; Stirrup straps; Training leads for horses; Harness; Harness fittings; Fittings (Harness -); Harness for animals; Harness for horses; Harness made from leather; Harness straps; Harness traces; Harnesses; Harnesses for animals; Reins [harness]; Traces [harness]; Leather for harnesses, in the applicant's specification.

42. With regard to the remainder of the applicant's class 18 goods, namely Animal covers; Articles of clothing for horses; Collars for animals; Collars for cats; Collars for pets; Collars for pets bearing medical information; Collars of animals; Covers and wraps for animals; Covers for animals; Dog collars; Fly masks for animals; Electronic pet collars; Poultry blinders to prevent fighting; Animal apparel; apparel for animals ; Clothes for animals; Clothing for animals; Clothing for dogs; Clothing for domestic pets; Clothing for pets; Coats for cats; Coats for dogs; Costumes for animals; Dog apparel; Dog bellybands; Dog clothing; Dog coats; Dog parkas; Dog shoes; Garments for pets; Leggings for animals; Pet clothing; Pet hair bows; Pets (Clothing for -); Blankets for horses; Blinders for horses; Blinders [harness]; Blinkers for horses [blinders for horses]; Blinkers [harness]; Cloths for saddles; Covers for horse saddles; Covers for horse-saddles Equine boots; Equine leg wraps; Face masks for equines; Fly masks for horses; Hoof guards; Horse bits; Horse blankets; Horse cloths; Horse collars; Horse covers; Horse fly sheets; Horse leg wraps; Horse quarter sheets; Horse rugs; Horse sheets; Horse tail wraps; Horseshoes; Horseshoes made of plastic; Knee-pads for horses; Metal horseshoes; Non-metal horseshoes; Numnahs; Pads for horse saddles; Parts of rubber for stirrups;; Riding saddles; Rubber parts for stirrups; Saddle blankets; Saddle cloths; Saddle cloths for horses; Saddle covers; Saddle pads; Saddle trees; Saddlecloths for horses; apparel for animals; Saddles (Pads for horse -); Saddletrees; Spats and knee bandages for horses;; Stirrups; Stirrups of metal; Stirrups (Parts of rubber for -); Stud hole plugs for horseshoes; Harness fittings of iron; Studs of leather, I do not find these goods to be similar to the opponent's class 18 or class 25 goods as they relate to animal clothing and animal apparatus. Such goods have a different nature, purpose and use. Neither are the complementary or in competition with the opponent's goods. The goods, being animal related clothing or apparatus, would not be provided by the same manufacturers and would reach the market through different distribution channels. As such where there is no similarity of goods, then the opposition will fail in relation to those goods.

43. With regard to the class 25 specifications, I find the opponent's specification contains the broad terms clothing; footwear; headgear at large which will cover all the goods in the applicant's specifications and are therefore considered identical on the Meric principle.

Average consumer and the purchasing process

44. I next consider the role of the average consumer and how the goods are purchased. The average consumer is deemed to be reasonably well informed and reasonably observant and circumspect. For the purpose of assessing the likelihood of confusion, it must be borne in mind that the average consumer's level of attention is likely to vary according to the category of goods or services in question: Lloyd Schuhfabrik Meyer, Case C-342/97.

45. In Hearst Holdings Inc, Fleischer Studios Inc v A.V.E.L.A. Inc, Poeticgem Limited, The Partnership (Trading) Limited, U Wear Limited, J Fox Limited, [2014] EWHC 439 (Ch), Birss J. described the average consumer in these terms:

“60. The trade mark questions have to be approached from the point of view of the presumed expectations of the average consumer who is reasonably well informed and reasonably circumspect. The parties were agreed that the relevant person is a legal construct and that the test is to be applied objectively by the court from the point of view of that constructed person. The words “average” denotes that the person is typical. The term “average” does not denote some form of numerical mean, mode or median.”

46. The guidance given in New Look Limited v OHIM, joined cases T-117/03 to T-119/03 and T-171/03, is also appropriate for these proceedings as the goods in New Look concerned clothing. The General Court stated that:

“49. However, it should be noted that in the global assessment of the likelihood of confusion, the visual, aural or conceptual aspects of the opposing signs do not always have the same weight. It is appropriate to examine the objective conditions under which the marks may be present on the market (BUDMEN, paragraph 57). The extent of the similarity or difference between the signs may depend, in particular, on the inherent qualities of the signs or the conditions under which the goods or services covered by the opposing signs are marketed. If the goods covered by the mark in question are usually sold in self-service stores where consumer choose the product themselves and must therefore rely primarily on the image of the trade mark applied to the product, the visual similarity between the signs will as a general rule be more important. If on the other hand the product covered is primarily sold orally, greater weight will usually be attributed to any aural similarity between the signs.”

And

“50..... Generally in clothes shops customers can themselves either choose the clothes they wish to buy or be assisted by the sales staff. Whilst oral communication in respect of the product and the trade mark is not excluded, the choice of the item of clothing is generally made visually. Therefore, the visual perception of the marks in question will generally take place prior to purchase. Accordingly the visual aspect plays a greater role in the global assessment of the likelihood of confusion.”

47. The average consumers for the goods at issue are the general public. The goods can be sold in traditional physical retail stores as well as from online equivalent websites. As set out above in New Look, the act of purchasing clothing will be a primarily visual process and factors such as the look and fit of a garment and its suitability for purpose in addition to the cost, will come into play. I find that for class 18 goods such as bags, luggage etc, a similar approach will apply. Consumers will be concerned with the appearance, the functionality and the cost of such goods. I would categorise the purchase of clothes and bags etc. as reasonably frequent but not everyday purchases and given that the prices of such goods can vary from the reasonably priced to very expensive, I conclude that an average consumer will be paying at least a medium degree of attention during the purchasing process.

48. In physical retail premises, the average consumer will view and handle the goods at issue. In an online website or catalogue, a consumer will view images of the goods before selection. Although this will result in the purchasing process being primarily visual, I also take into account aural considerations such as word of mouth recommendations or advice sought from a sales assistant.

Comparison of the marks

49. It is clear from Sabel BV v. Puma AG (particularly paragraph 23) that the average consumer normally perceives a mark as a whole and does not proceed to analyse its various details. The same case also explains that the visual, aural and conceptual similarities of the marks must be assessed by reference to the overall impressions created by the marks, bearing in mind their distinctive and dominant components. The CJEU stated at paragraph 34 of its judgment in Case C-591/12P, Bimbo SA v OHIM, that:

“.....it is necessary to ascertain, in each individual case, the overall impression made on the target public by the sign for which registration is sought, by means of, inter alia, an analysis of the components of a sign and of their relative weight in the perception of the target public, and then, in the light of that overall impression and all factors relevant to the circumstances of the case, to assess the likelihood of confusion.”

50. It would be wrong, therefore, to artificially dissect the trade marks, although, it is necessary to take into account the distinctive and dominant components of the marks and to give due weight to any other features which are not negligible and therefore contribute to the overall impressions created by the marks.

51. The marks to be compared are:

Opponent's marks	Applicant's marks
UK TM No. 3331987 	UK TM No. 3400910 London Terminals Limited London Terminals LTD
	UK TM No. 3398969

52. The opponent's mark is a composite arrangement of words and a figurative element. The figurative element resembles a UK train ticket and has the words and numerals London Terminals and Issue:00000 in a stylised typeface positioned between the orange lines. The train ticket representation has some visual impact but is not especially fanciful. The secondary word element Issue:00000 is distinctive but plays a subordinate role within the mark because of its smaller font and its positioning at the bottom right of the mark below the words London Terminals. However because of its central positioning, I find the words London Terminals will be seen and remembered as the most distinctive element. As such it carries the greatest weight in the overall impression of the mark.

53. The applicant's trade mark No. 3400910 ("the word mark") is a series of two word only marks. Both marks contain the words London Terminals. The first has the word Limited in full and the second has the letters LTD, which is a recognised abbreviation for the 'Limited' company designation. The use of the word Limited/LTD is very common to denote a company name. In my view whilst the words London Terminals are the most distinctive element of the mark, the overall impression is derived from London Terminals Limited/LTD as a whole.

54. The applicant's trade mark No. 3398969 ("the figurative mark") is a composite arrangement of words and a figurative element. The figurative element resembles a heraldic crest with the letters LT at its centre. The crest is positioned above the words London Terminals which are presented in a stylised typeface. The size and complexity of the figurative element will make a visual impact and both the word and figurative element make an equal contribution to the overall impression of the mark.

Comparison between the earlier mark and the applicant's word marks

55. In a visual comparison, clearly the marks share the identical words London Terminals. There are visual differences in the marks, namely the additional non-distinctive element Limited/LTD in the applicant's marks and the additional word element Issue:00000 and figurative element in the opponent's mark. Taking all of these factors into account, I find there is a medium degree of visual similarity between the opponent's mark and the applicant's word mark

56. In an aural comparison I have only the word elements to consider. As previously stated, the marks share the words London Terminals which will be pronounced identically in each case. It is plausible that consumers will pronounce the word Limited/LTD in the applicant's word mark as the text is presented on a single line and may be easily read in full, from left to right. It is unlikely in my view that consumers will pronounce the word element issue:00000 in the opponent's mark as it is quite a long element to verbalise in full and is likely to be perceived as a ticket number. As a consequence, I find that where the words Limited/LTD are not pronounced the aural similarity is identical and where they are pronounced there is aural similarity to a high degree.

57. Turning now to a conceptual comparison, I note that for a conceptual message to be relevant then it must be capable of "immediate grasp"¹ by the average consumer. I find that the conceptual message for the shared words London Terminals will be identical for each mark, namely terminals located in London. The additional word element in the applicant's word mark, namely Limited/LTD, will create the impression of a company called London Terminals Ltd/Limited. The figurative element in the opponent's mark will likely bring to mind a train ticket and issue:00000 may refer to a ticket number. There are some conceptual differences overall between the marks, namely the opponent's mark resembling a train ticket and the applicant's marks a company name, but both evoke the idea of London terminals.

Comparison between the earlier mark and the applicant's figurative mark

58. In a visual comparison, the point of similarity is the shared words London Terminals. There are several points of visual difference, as the opponent has the additional word element Issue:00000 in its mark and the applicant has the additional letters LT. There are also visual differences in terms of the figurative elements, i.e. the earlier mark resembling a train ticket and applicant's mark being a heraldic crest. Based on the overall visual impression of the marks, I find there is a low degree of visual similarity between the opponent's mark and the applicant's figurative mark.

59. In terms of aural similarity, the figurative elements will not play a part so I have only the word elements to consider. As previously stated, the marks share the words London Terminals which will be pronounced identically in each case. It is unlikely that consumers will pronounce the word element issue:00000 in the opponent's mark as it is too a long element to verbalise in full. It is also unlikely that consumers will verbalise the LT letters element in the applicant's figurative mark as these letters are separated from the more easily pronounceable whole words. Taking these factors into account, I find as previously stated that if the Limited/LTD or LT elements are not pronounced then the aural similarity is identical and where they are pronounced there is a high degree of aural similarity.

60. Finally, regarding the conceptual comparison, I find that the concept is identical for the shared words London Terminals. There are conceptual differences namely the figurative element of a train ticket and word element issue:00000 in the opponent's mark and the heraldic crest of the applicant's mark, although the letters LT will likely be seen as referring to the initial letters of the words London Terminals which are positioned beneath the crest. Overall, I find that whilst there are conceptual differences between the figurative elements, there is conceptual identity for the shared words.

Distinctiveness of the earlier mark

61. The degree of distinctiveness of the earlier mark must be assessed. This is because the more distinctive the earlier mark, based either on inherent qualities or because of the use made of it, the greater the likelihood of confusion. In Lloyd Schuhfabrik Meyer & Co. GmbH v Klijsen Handel BV, Case C-342/97 the CJEU stated that:

“22. In determining the distinctive character of a mark and, accordingly, in assessing whether it is highly distinctive, the national court must make an overall assessment of the greater or lesser capacity of the mark to identify the goods or services for which it has been registered as coming from a particular undertaking, and thus to distinguish those goods or services from those of other undertakings (see, to that effect, judgment of 4 May 1999 in Joined Cases C-108/97 and C-109/97 Windsurfing Chiemsee v Huber and Attenberger [1999] ECR I-0000, paragraph 49).

23. In making that assessment, account should be taken, in particular, of the inherent characteristics of the mark, including the fact that it does or does not contain an element descriptive of the goods or services for which it has been registered; the market share held by the mark; how intensive, geographically widespread and long-standing use of the mark has been; the amount invested by the undertaking in promoting the mark; the proportion of the relevant section of the public which, because of the mark, identifies the goods or services as originating from a particular undertaking; and statements from chambers of commerce and industry or other trade and professional associations (see Windsurfing Chiemsee, paragraph 51).”

62. I have considered the inherent distinctiveness of the earlier mark. The mark contains the words and numbers London Terminals Issue:00000 and has a figurative element, none of which have any meaning in relation to the goods. Taking these factors into account, I find the opponent’s mark to be inherently distinctive to medium degree.

63. The opponent has provided evidence of use of its earlier mark. Applying the criteria set out in Windsurfing above, the evidence indicates that the mark has been used since June 2018. The evidence shows some images of clothing goods, namely caps, jackets, sweatshirts and hooded tops but there are no images for the goods in class 18. The goods have been marketed on Instagram by specified musicians and athletes and are said to have been seen by several thousand followers. The overall turnover since 2018 is stated to be approx. £3500 and has all been from clothing sales. No details were given as to the number of customers or their geographical spread. In my view, given the low turnover figures and that the evidence of advertising is limited at best, the evidence provided is insufficient to show that the distinctiveness of the earlier mark has been enhanced through use.

Likelihood of confusion

64. There is no scientific formula to apply in determining whether there is a likelihood of confusion. It is a global assessment where a number of factors need to be borne in mind. The first is the interdependency principle i.e. a lesser degree of similarity between the respective trade marks may be offset by a greater degree of similarity between the respective goods and services and vice versa. It is necessary for me to keep in mind the distinctive character of the opponent's mark, the average consumer and the nature of the purchasing process for the contested goods. In doing so, I must be aware that the average consumer rarely has the opportunity to make direct comparisons between trade marks and must instead rely upon the imperfect picture of them that he has retained in his mind.

65. Confusion can be direct or indirect. Direct confusion involves the average consumer mistaking one mark for the other, while indirect confusion is where the average consumer realises the marks are not the same but puts the similarity that exists between the marks and the goods and services down to the responsible undertakings being the same or related.

66. In L.A. Sugar Limited v By Back Beat Inc, Case BL O/375/10, Mr Iain Purvis Q.C., as the Appointed Person, explained that:

“16. Although direct confusion and indirect confusion both involve mistakes on the part of the consumer, it is important to remember that these mistakes are very different in nature. Direct confusion involves no process of reasoning – it is a simple matter of mistaking one mark for another. Indirect confusion, on the other hand, only arises where the consumer has actually recognized that the later mark is different from the earlier mark. It therefore requires a mental process of some kind on the part of the consumer when he or she sees the later mark, which may be conscious or subconscious but, analysed in formal terms, is something along the following lines: “The later mark is different from the earlier mark, but also has something in common with it. Taking account of the common element in the context of the later mark as a whole, I conclude that it is another brand of the owner of the earlier mark.

67. During this decision I have found that:

- the parties' goods are identical and similar to varying degrees.
- the average consumer will purchase these goods through primarily visual means, although I did not discount an aural aspect.

- the consumer will be paying at least a medium degree of attention.
- the opponent's earlier mark was inherently distinctive to medium degree.

Likelihood of confusion between the earlier mark and applicant's word mark

68. I found there was a medium degree of visual similarity between the earlier mark and the applicant's word mark. With regard to the aural similarity I found there was identity for the shared words London Terminals and a high degree of aural similarity if the additional word elements were pronounced. Finally, I found there was conceptual identity for the shared words, although I also found there were conceptual differences between the subordinate word elements and the figurative elements.

69. The competing marks both contain the identical word elements London Terminals. The addition of the suffix Limited/Ltd in the applicant's word mark means the average consumer would recognise the mark as a company name of London Terminals. I found that the additional points of difference, namely the figurative elements, Limited/LTD and Issue:00000, will also be noted. Therefore, there is no likelihood of direct confusion. However, I find there is a likelihood of indirect confusion as those points of difference do not outweigh the identity of the shared words. Put other way, it is the common identical element of London Terminals which will be recalled by the consumer. The additional elements will be seen as plausible brand extensions which consumers would believe to be connected to the same economic undertaking.

Likelihood of confusion between the earlier mark and applicant's figurative mark

70. Regarding the comparison between the earlier mark and the applicant's figurative mark, I found there was a low degree of visual similarity. There was aural identity between the marks if the words London Terminals alone were pronounced and a high degree of aural similarity if the other word elements were pronounced and there was conceptual identity for the shared words, London Terminals, although I also found there were conceptual differences between the figurative elements.

71. As previously stated there are points of difference between the marks, namely the figurative elements, the letters LT in the applicant's mark and the words and numerals Issue:00000 in the earlier mark, so there is no likelihood of direct confusion. However, in my view such differences do not offset the similarity caused by the identical words London Terminals which a consumer would see as being brand extensions, for example for use on different product ranges, and would believe that the marks are connected to the same economic undertaking. As such I find there is a likelihood of indirect confusion.

Conclusion

72. The opposition brought under section 5(2)(b) of the Act has succeeded in full against class 25 and in part against class 18. Subject to any appeal against this decision, the application will be partially refused. I do not need to consider the opponent's earlier trade mark no. 3358125 in class 25 as it does not put the opponent in any stronger a position.

73. Both applications will be refused in full for class 25 and for the following goods in class 18:

Costs

75. The opponent has been largely successful and is therefore, in principle, entitled to a contribution towards its costs. As the opponent is unrepresented, at the conclusion of the evidence rounds the tribunal invited it to indicate whether it wished to make a request for an award of costs, and if so, to complete a pro-forma including a breakdown of actual costs, including providing accurate estimates of the number of hours spent on a range of given activities relating to the opposition. The tribunal letter also set out that the Litigants in Person (Costs and Expenses) Act 1975 (as amended) sets the minimum level of compensation for litigants in person in court proceedings at £19 per hour.

76. The opponent returned its costs pro-forma to the tribunal on 21 April 2020. In the pro-forma, the opponent states that it spent 1 hour preparing the Forms TM7a, 11 hours in preparing the Notices of Opposition namely the Forms TM7 for the two applications and a further 16 hours were spent on “planning witness statement, preparing evidence, explaining evidence, formatting and commenting on the other side’s evidence”. I do not consider the time spent on the Forms TM7a to be relevant for costs, as these forms do not form part of the formal opposition proceedings. The evidence was of limited usefulness, so I believe a reduction of costs for that activity is appropriate. Taking that into account I am prepared to award costs as follows:

£200 official fees

£76 Comprising 4 hours at £19 for the preparation of evidence

£209 Comprising 11 hours at £19 per hour for preparation of the opposition notices

£485 total

77. I order London Terminals Limited to pay Londn Terminals Ltd the sum of £485. This sum is to be paid within 21 days of the expiry of the appeal period or within 21 days of the final determination of this case if any appeal against this decision is unsuccessful.

Dated this 23rd day of September 2020
