EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order amends the Crime and Courts Act 2013 (Commencement No. 17, Transitional and Savings Provisions) Order 2017 (S.I. 2017/236) (“the 2017 Order”).

Section 44 of, and Part 4 of Schedule 16 to, the Crime and Courts Act 2013 (c. 22) (“the 2013 Act”) amend the framework for the electronic monitoring of offenders set out in the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (c. 44) (“the 2003 Act”). The amendments to the 2003 Act made by Part 4 of Schedule 16 allow the imposition of an electronic monitoring requirement, as defined in section 215 of the 2003 Act, as part of a community order or suspended sentence order. It also amends the definition of such an “electronic monitoring requirement” to include stand-alone electronic monitoring of the offender’s whereabouts (otherwise than for the purpose of monitoring the offender’s compliance with any other requirements included in the order). Section 61 of the 2013 Act provides that section 44 of, and Part 4 of Schedule 16 to, the 2013 Act can be brought into force for specified periods in specified areas.

The 2017 Order brought into force those provisions in the local justice areas of East London and North London for a piloting period. The piloting period started on 13th March 2017 and ends at the end of 12th March 2018.

This Order amends the 2017 Order to extend the end of the piloting period to the end of 12th March 2019.

A full impact assessment has not been produced for this instrument as no, or no significant, impact on the private, voluntary or public sectors is foreseen.
